Description of Property and Eligibility Determination: (Use continuation sheet if necessary and attach map and photo)
The Damascus Methodist Church Cemetery and Boyer Chapel are located on the west side of Woodfield Road. The headstones are laid in rows and number approximately 180. The stones consist of granite, marble and sandstone. The headstones date from 1869 to the present. Common names are Moxley, Duvalls, Watkins, Poole, Clodfelter, Mullineaux, Beall, and Offutt. The Boyer Chapel (built in 1952) is a one-story, three-bay-wide and three-bay-long stone-faced building with a gable end façade. The Damascus Methodist Church congregation was established circa 1822. The original structure was irreparably damaged in 1899. The second structure was constructed behind the location of the first church in 1900. This building was replaced by the current church building located on the opposite side of Woodfield Road. In 1960 the church Education Center was constructed on the site of the original church building. The Damascus Methodist Cemetery and Boyer Chapel are not associated with an event or pattern of events significant on the national, state, or local level and are not eligible under Criterion A. They are not associated with a significant person and are not eligible under Criterion B. The cemetery and chapel do not embody the distinctive characteristics of a significant style or method of construction and are not eligible under Criterion C.

The cemetery and chapel are in good condition.

Architectural Description
The Damascus Methodist Church Cemetery is located on the west side of Woodfield Road (Route 124), just south of its intersection with Main Street (Route 108) in downtown Damascus. The cemetery consists of 2.87 acres and is partially fenced. The property is planted with small clumps of cedar trees at scattered locations. The headstones are laid in rows and number approximately 217. The stones consist of granite, marble and sandstone. The headstones date from 1869 to the present, with most dating from after 1920. Common names are Moxley, Duvalls, Watkins, Poole, Clodfelter, Mullineaux, Beall, and Offutt. Most headstones feature no decorative carving, although older headstones from the 1870s and 1880s feature carved willow, angel, or praying hand designs. There are no mausoleums or large multiple markers present. The cemetery is in good condition and is well maintained.

The Boyer Chapel is located at the northwest corner of the cemetery property. Built in 1952, it is a one-story, three-bay-wide and three-bay-long building with a gable end façade. There is a rounded bay with metal roof and clustered 8/8 sash windows on the south gable end. The building is faced with stone laid in irregular courses. The central entrance has a batten door with iron strap hinges. Above this is a round window. The other windows have 1/1 double-hung sash. There is a stone cross atop the chapel on the north. The date plaque is inscribed: “This chapel is built to memorialize the life of George Milton Boyer for his diligent and faithful service to God and his fellow man. Presented in 1954 to Damascus Methodist Church by his son Milton McKendree Boyer, M.D.”

Evaluation for:

- X National Register
- X Maryland Register
- not evaluated

Prepare a one-paragraph summary statement of significance addressing applicable criteria, followed by a narrative discussion of the history of the resource and its context. (For compliance projects, complete evaluation on a DOE Form – see manual.)

History
The Damascus Methodist Church congregation was established circa 1822. It met outside Damascus until 1870, when the first church building in town was constructed on a lot adjoining the present cemetery. The original structure was irreparably damaged in a hail storm in 1899. The second structure was constructed behind the location of the first church in 1900. Additions followed in 1932 and 1948. This building was replaced by the current church building located on the opposite side of Woodfield Road. In 1960 the church Education Center was constructed on the site of the original church building.
