James Henry Onley House
Big Woods Community
Private

1880's, 1890's

The basic design of this two story frame house resembles the type found in which many small farm houses of the late 1800's were built, whether of log or frame construction. In plan, it contained two rooms down and two up, and its facade consisted of the typical three bays. The land around the house was put to useful production, as shown by the remnants of the old apple orchard near the house.

DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This two story frame dwelling stands on the west side of the Beallsville Road, and faces east. The grass lawn in front of it has flowering shrubs and to the north are old apple trees, the remnants of a larger orchard.

The house itself is now in poor condition, having been damaged by fire, but enough remains to tell of its former appearance. In general form, the house resembled the home of Richard and Bertha King, which has been surveyed in the Big Woods community. The exterior of this house, however, has been covered with composition siding, and it has a front porch supported by turned posts, with lattice work for flowering vines or roses. The facade consists of the typical three bays, with a door centrally located, flanked by a window on either side. The windows contain double hung sashes with 6 x 6 panes, and are accented with trim boards painted white. The house is one bay in depth. The roof is covered with tin.

In plan the house probably contained two rooms down and two up, and though the interior was not investigated. A brick stove flue was located in the middle of the house.

When the house was occupied and maintained, it was a substantial and attractive house.
