25 - 50 % = Minimal
50 - 75 % = Mid-level
75 - 100% = Good
90 - 100% = Natl. Reg. (with possible exceptions)

Rating for this site: Unqualified (no remains; site not identified)

Criteria:

Arch. Significance - that quality which embodies the distinctive characteristics of a type, period, or method of construction, or that represent the work of a master, or that possess high artistic values, or that represent a significant and distinguishable entity whose component may lack individual distinction.

Historical Significance - that quality present in sites associated with events that have made a significant contribution to the broad patterns of our history; or that are associated with the lives of persons significant in our past; or that have yielded, or may be likely to yield, information important in history.

Arch. Integrity - determined by the number of architectural changes to the site...using the following list as a guide...(and) noting other unusual changes.

Detrimental Changes (depending on the quality of its original character):

- new or relocated chimney
- rebuilt foundation
- new porch
- original windows changed (at a later, but still historical, date)
- modern windows in original frames
- original windows intact but extra ones added
- change in shape or size of window openings
- lack of outbuildings
- aluminum siding (unless original architraves and trim are retained)
- asphalt or asbestos siding (over original siding)
- recent change of location

Critical Changes:

- aluminum siding added; architraves eliminated
- additions engulfing or removing portions of original building

Value Descriptions

Outstanding - distinguished; of particular import. to Md. historic & arch. past.

Considerable - deserving of recognition; contributes to the understanding of history or architectural heritage represented in Maryland

Moderate - commonality...lack of historic signif. or arch. style, except if scarce

Minor - unimportant or inferior; little arch. worth and absence of hist. importance

Prepare both a summary paragraph of significance and a general statement of history and support.

The original Veirs Mill was built by Samuel Clark Veirs sometime after 1838 on the 400 acre farm which Veirs acquired in that year about two miles south of Rockville, on Rock Creek; the farm was part of an original land grant called "Prevention".

Born near Dawsonville, Maryland, in 1798 (d. 1872), Samuel Clark Veirs was an important figure in the county. A member of a family reputed to have settled in Maryland before 1700, he served as a judge of the Orphans Court from 1864 to 1880 and was a successful farmer and miller. Although the spelling is different, Viers Mill Road was named in his honor.<sup>1</sup>

The sixth mill to be built on Rock Creek, Veirs Mill operated successfully for approximately 80 years. The mill is identified as "Rock Creek Mills" on the 1865 Martenet & Bond Map and the "Veirs Bro<sup>s</sup>. Grist Mill" on the G.M Hopkins Atlas for 1879; it was located close to what is now the intersection of Aspen Hill and Viers Mill Roads.<sup>2</sup>

As an article on early mills notes, "The local mill was vital to American agrarian life in the seventeenth, eighteenth, and early nineteenth centuries...the locations of towns in early Maryland were often determined by the presence of suitable mill sites on creeks and rivers."<sup>3</sup>

The Veirs Mill (driven by an overshoot wheel nine feet broad) was representative of the larger "merchant mills" of the period. Operated on a full-time basis, they did custom milling for individual farmers and also bought grain from local growers, ground it, and sold the flour. The smaller "local" or "custom" mills ground the mill owner's grain and (upon payment of a toll) that of his neighbors.

The 1880 census listed Veirs and Bro. Mill as having 14 employees and a 100 bushel per day capacity.

Veirs mill, along with the Veirs house, Meadow Hall, was a landmark in the Rockville area for many years. After the coming of the railroad in 1873, improved transportation made local mills less of a necessity.
