Owner Name/Address Frank & Anne Willson Jr., 14821 Layhill Road, Silver Spring, MD 20906
Year Built circa 1885

Description:

The Jacob VanHorn Farmhouse, constructed circa 1885, was previously surveyed by the M-NCPPC and the Montgomery County Historic Preservation Commission in 1974, 1976, 1982, and 1991. Since the time of the previous survey, neither the property, nor its setting, has been altered.

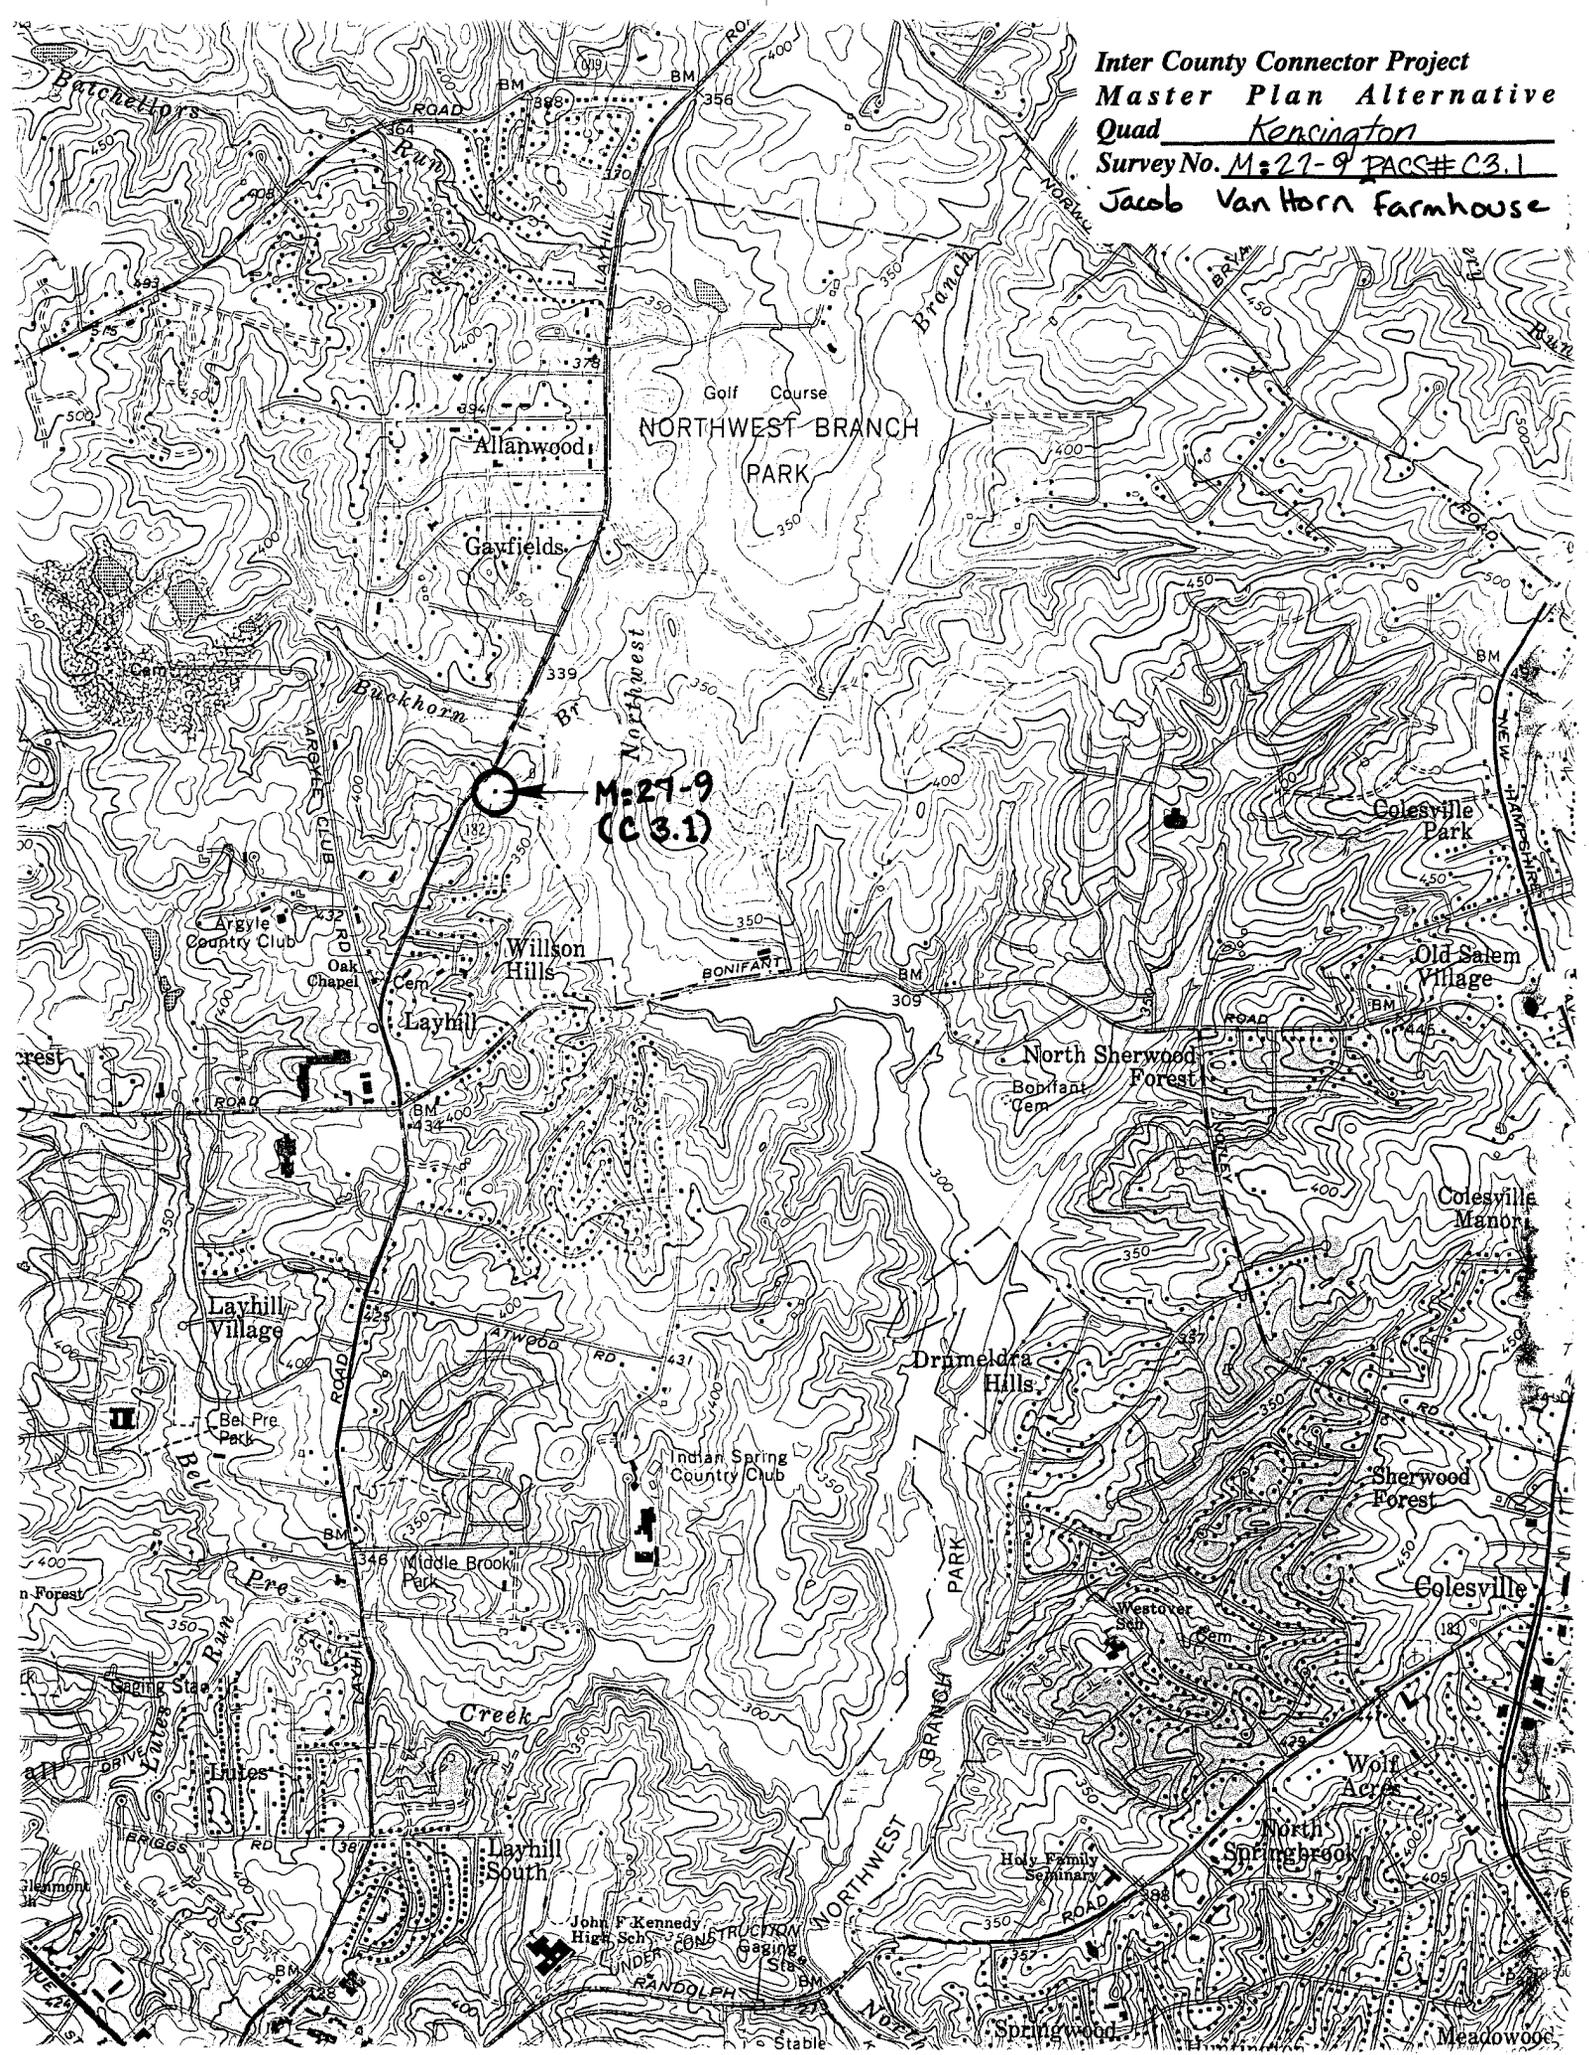

National Register Evaluation:

The Jacob VanHorn Farmhouse, constructed circa 1885, is not eligible for the National Register of Historic Places. The property is not eligible under Criterion A or B, as it has no known association with historically significant persons or events. It does not meet Criterion C, as the architectural integrity of the house has been severely compromised by additions on the side and rear, and construction of a brick veneer on the front facade. In addition, the property is not eligible under Criterion D, as the property has no known potential to yield important information.

Short Description of Site:

This is an 1885 farmhouse which retains its original setting with large trees and meadows, but which has been altered quite extensively. It does retain its original smoke house, spring house, and a 1927 dairy building. The house was originally a three-bay, two-story frame building with an ell behind on the west. The original weatherboarded facade has been brick veneered. Brick additions have been made to the east (1970s) and south (1980s). The house retains its original smoke house with a lapped shake roof, mostly original mortar, board and batten door with stone lintel, and dirt floor. It is situated near the house on the southeast. The spring house, built in the 1930s at the west side of the man-made pond, was used until 1986.

Rating for this site: Minimal

Criteria:

Arch. Significance - that quality which embodies the distinctive characteristics of a type, period, or method of construction, or that represent the work of a master, or that possess high artistic values, or that represent a significant and distinguishable entity whose component may lack individual distinction.

Historical Significance - that quality present in sites associated with events that have made a significant contribution to the broad patterns of our history; or that are associated with the lives of persons significant in our past; or that have yielded, or may be likely to yield, information important in history.

Arch. Integrity - determined by the number of architectural changes to the site...using the following list as a guide...(and) noting other unusual changes.

Detrimental Changes (depending on the quality of its original character):

- new or relocated chimney
- rebuilt foundation
- new porch
- original windows changed (at a later, but still historical, date)
- modern windows in original frames
- original windows intact but extra ones added
- change in shape or size of window openings
- lack of outbuildings
- aluminum siding (unless original architraves and trim are retained)
- asphalt or asbestos siding (over original siding)
- recent change of location

Critical Changes:

- aluminum siding added; architraves eliminated
- additions engulfing or removing portions of original building

Value Descriptions

Outstanding - distinguished; of particular import. to Md. historic & arch. past.

Considerable - deserving of recognition; contributes to the understanding of history or architectural heritage represented in Maryland

Moderate - commonality...lack of historic signif. or arch. style, except if scarce

Minor - unimportant or inferior; little arch. worth and absence of hist. importance

Prepare both a summary paragraph and a general description of the resource and its various elements as it exists today.

Summary: This is an 1885 farmhouse which retains its original setting with large trees and meadows, but which has been altered quite extensively. It does retain its original smoke house, spring house, and a 1927 dairy building. A county park abuts the property on the east, but a road interchange is planned for the meadow behind the house; if constructed, the road would seriously impact the site's.

Description: The house was originally a three-bay, two-story frame building with an ell behind on the west. The original weatherboarded facade has been brick veneered. Brick additions have been made to the east (1970s) and south (1980s). The roof has asphalt shingles. Windows in the original building are 6/6, with 4/4 windows in the gables. There is dentilling under the gables. Picture windows have been put in the additions. The house has three corbelled chimneys: one square chimney through the roof at the east end of the main block and a large rectangular exterior chimney at the west end; a third large fireplace chimney at the original end of the ell has been enclosed by the recent construction of a large two-story addition. Some of the original stone foundation with original mortar remains under the ell in what used to be a potato cellar. The original wrap-around front porch has been removed. The central front door has a transom and side lights with diamond panes.

The central hall in the original structure contained stairs going to the second floor. It continued back to the kitchen in the ell. A parlor was on the left and a dining room on the right as one entered the house. The house received plumbing and electricity in 1930.

Outbuildings: The house retains its original smoke house with a lapped shake roof, mostly original mortar, board and batten door with stone lintel, and dirt floor. It is situated near the house on the southeast. The original two-story barn was struck by lightning and burned. The current one-story barn replaced it. An ice house stood to the northeast of the house, between the house and the barn. To the north of the ice house, where there is now a small house, was a buggy shop.

The spring house, built in the 1930s at the west side of the man-made pond, was used until 1986. It had a ram and wheel device that would send water to the barn to automatically water the 100 dairy cows on the farm.

"Development in the Aspen Hill area of Montgomery County began with a 3,860 acre land grant called "Lay Hill" in 1689. A second grant of 4,892 acres was made in 1718. Over time, these and subsequent grants were broken down to create farms of several hundred acres each.³ The house is believed to have been built by Henry K. Vanhorn who, according to the map of 1865, lived on this site in an earlier dwelling. (Nineteenth century VanHorn grave sites can be found in the nearby Layhill M.E. Church cemetery.) The land consisted of approximately 220 acres of a tract of land referred to as 'Layhill', and was part of the homeplace of Richard Holmes, deceased.⁴

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

This is one of the few remaining old homes in an area (Layhill) that has become heavily-developed in the past 10 years. Maps of 1865, 1878, and 1894 show the Van Horn family living here. The present owners, the Willsons, are long-time residents of this area, and have owned this place for at least 30 years.
