DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (if known) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This is a very small cabin dating from the 19th Cen. The house faces south and there are 2 bays on this facade. The doorway is nearly in the center, and the window is in the east bay. The interior walls are exposed logs that have been white-washed. The hewn attic floor joists are exposed and the flooring is laid directly on them. There appears to be a small staircase in the NW corner. A stove-pipe chimney flue sits along the interior west wall.

The logs of the cabin are hand-hewn and squared. The gable ends have been covered with cement and weatherboards. A poorly-made dormer sits in the center of the south roof. A one-story shed of modern vintage covers the south facade of the building.

Nearby is an early barn/stable that rests on stone piers. There are two flanking shed wings to this main part. The siding is weathered white pine.
