Description of Property and Eligibility Determination (Use continuation sheet if necessary and attach map and photo)

Constructed in 1939, this structure was built in response to intensified suburbanization of the study area following the construction of MD 210 and related to the expansion of federal offices and military installations in the county. This side-gabled, one and a half story house has a protruding front-gabled addition, with the main entrance hidden in the corner created by the appendage. A pair of symmetrical dormers crown the roof, expressing overhanging eaves suggesting this structure was originally a bungalow. The majority of windows are six over six, and double hung, with some aluminum shutters. Evidence of substantial expansion is apparent in a series of additions on the south and west elevations of the structure.

Research has not revealed any association between this structure and events that have made a significant contribution to the broad patterns of our history (Criterion A) or the lives of persons significant in the past (Criterion B). The building is not a good example of any style; nor is it distinguished; it does not represent the work of a master or display high artistic merit (Criterion C). Although archeology was not addressed in this study, there is no indication
