Description of Property and Eligibility Determination (Use continuation sheet if necessary and attach map and photo)

Constructed in 1940, this structure was built in response to study area development related to the expansion of federal offices and military installations. This side gabled, single story house has been so significantly altered as to render its original appearance indistinguishable. The house is characterized by asymmetrical window and chimney placement, a side door and porch, and an irregular roofline. Although the structure is parged with textured stucco, it is likely of wood frame construction.

Research has not revealed any association between this structure and events that have made a significant contribution to the broad patterns of our history (Criterion A) or the lives of persons significant in the past (Criterion B). The building is not a good example of any style; nor is it distinguished; it does not represent the work of a master or display high artistic merit (Criterion C). Although archeology was not addressed in this study, there is no indication that the property is likely to yield information important in history or pre-history (Criterion D). Therefore, this property is not eligible for the National Register.
