Survey No.: PG:85A-55 (PACS 2.2) Construction Date: circa 1850/1876

Name: Huntt/Luckett Property

Location: 13704 Old Brandywine Road, T.B. Vicinity, Prince George's County

Private/Private Residence/Occupied/Fair/Restricted

Description:

The Huntt/Luckett Property is a 2½-story, 6-bay, gable-front-and-wing house on the east side of Old Brandywine Road in T.B., Prince George's County. Constructed circa 1850 as a store, the building was moved to its current location and renovated into a dwelling in 1876 (MHT Form 85A-33, 1986). The building is a gable-front-and-wing house with a 1-story, side-gable entry addition and a T-shaped plan. The structure has a cross-gable roof covered in asphalt shingles. There is a gable dormer on the side-gable portion of the roof. The building is of wood-frame construction with aluminum siding, and has a modern formed concrete block foundation. The windows are 6/6 double-hung replacement. The house has a shed-roof porch on the front elevation. The porch has metal supports and a wooden railing.

Significance:

The Huntt/Luckett property was originally constructed circa 1850 as a store, and was moved and remodeled into a house in 1876 by J. Eli Huntt. The house appears in its current location on the Hopkins Maps of 1878 as the M.L. Luckett Residence, who in the Maryland Directory of 1880 is listed as a blacksmith. The property was purchased from J. Eli Huntt by Eliza Luckett in 1895 for $400. According to the deed, the property was located, "... in the village of T.B., beginning at a stone near to the southwest corner of the Jonadab Hall (Casket Shop), east side of the County Road leading to Mattawoman (Old Brandywine Road), and running southeast . . . to a stone planted in front of Mr. Luckett's shop..." (Deed JWB 35/41). The property was inherited by the heirs of Eliza Luckett, and was sold in 1935 to Aileen Boswell. Aileen Boswell sold the property to Julius and Irene Walder in 1940. The property remained in the Walder Family until 1996, when it was purchased by George and Marsha Trahan.

Prepare both a summary paragraph and a general description of the resource and its various elements as it exists today.

The Hunt/Luckett Property is a 2½-story, 6-bay, gable-front-and-wing house on the east side of Old Brandywine Road in T.B., Prince George's County. Constructed circa 1850 as a store, the building was moved to its current location and renovated into a dwelling in 1876 (MHT Form 85A-33, 1986). The building is a gable-front-and-wing house with a 1-story, side-gable entry addition and a T-shaped plan.

The structure has a cross-gable roof covered in asphalt shingles. There is a gable dormer on the side-gable portion of the roof. The building is of wood-frame construction with aluminum siding, and has a modern formed concrete block foundation. The windows are 6/6 double-hung replacement. The house has a shed-roof porch on the front elevation. The porch has metal supports and a wooden railing.

The west, or front elevation, consists of the side-gable wing section, the front-gable section, and the 1-story side-gable entry addition. There is one 8/8 double-hung window and a door in the side-gable wing section of the first story. The first story of the front-gable section has a band of three windows, with a central 6/6 double hung window flanked by two 4/4 double-hung windows. The side-gable entry has a door flanked by two 1/1 double-hung windows. The second story has paired 6/6 double-hung windows on both the side- and front-gable sections. There is a gable dormer with no window above the windows on the side-gable wing. The front elevation has modern aluminum shutters on all the windows, and the front-gable section has gable-returns.

The north elevation consists of the side of the front-gable section and the gable end of the 1-story entry addition. A central brick chimney extends from the roofline. The fenestration pattern is symmetrical. The first story has paired 6/6 double-hung windows and a door under the enclosed side addition. The gable-end of the entry has a band of four 1/1 double-hung windows. There are three 6/6 double-hung windows on the second story.

The east elevation consists of the side-gable wing, the front-gable section, and the rear of the 1-story side-gable entry addition. A shouldered brick exterior chimney is centered on the side-gable wing. There are two small concrete-block, shed-roof additions in the corner between the side-gable wing and front-gable section. There is a single fixed-light window on the first story of the side-gable wing. The front-gable section has a 1/1 double-hung window, and the entry addition has paired 1/1 double-hung windows. The second story has a 6/6 double-hung window on the front-gable section and one 6/6 double-hung window in the side-gable wing.

The south elevation consists of the gable-end of the wing, centered on the side of the front-gable section. The gable-end has a 6/6 double-hung window on both the first and second story. The basement level of the front-gable section is obscured by the concrete-block additions. There is a door in the side of the rear addition. There is a 6/6 double-hung window on the first and second story of the front-gable section.

terior access to the house was not available.

There is one outbuilding associated with the building. It is a garage with a front-gable roof covered with asphalt shingles. Constructed circa 1960, it is of concrete-block construction with double doors on the west elevation and a window on the south elevation. The structure is located to the north of the house, at the edge of a fenced yard.

The property is located on the east side of Old Brandywine Road, with residential property to the east, south, and west, and the J.E. Hunt Casket Shop/Tenant House (PG:85A-15) to the north. There are trees along the southern and eastern property lines. The property's setting is rural, and is relatively unchanged from its historic setting with the exception of the addition of mid-twentieth century housing to the south.

8. Significance (Continued)

T.B. was in danger of decline by the end of the nineteenth century. During the 1870s and 1880s, both the Baltimore and Potomac Railroad and the Southern Maryland and Point Lookout Railroad had bypassed T.B. in favor of the village of Brandywine, located two miles to the east. Businesses and other activities favored this location, and T.B. remained a small, crossroads village serving only local farmers and travelers. William G. Becker tried to develop the "Littleworth" subdivision northwest of T.B. during the 1930s, however only a few lots were ever developed. Several dwellings were constructed around the periphery of the village between 1930 and 1950. In 1927, the Governor Crain Highway, now Route 301, was constructed along a new alignment immediately east of T.B. In 1950 Maryland Route 5, which formerly followed Brandywine Road north of T.B. and Old Brandywine Road south of T.B., was moved to a new alignment immediately east of Brandywine Road. Although Route 5 did not result in extensive demolition, T.B. failed quickly after its construction (MHT, PG:85A-33).

The Hunt/Lockett property is an example of a store which was converted into a gable-front-and-wing residence in 1876. The gable-front-and-wing form first developed as an adaptation of the front-gable Greek Revival style (McAlester and McAlester 1984, 92). The form later became popular in trolley and early automotive suburbs, particularly in the first decade of the twentieth century. Gable-front-and-wing dwellings had a prominent, front-gable wing facing the street attached to a recessed, side-gable wing. A porch typically filled the "L" formed by the two wings (McAlester and McAlester 1984, 92). In the Mid-Atlantic region, these dwellings were usually two-stories tall and constructed of wood frame. Gable-front-and-wing dwellings commonly had Greek Revival, Gothic Revival, Queen Anne or Stick-style ornamentation.

National Register Evaluation:

Constructed circa 1850, and moved and remodeled in 1876, the Hunt/Lockett Property is not eligible for the National Register of Historic Places. The property is not eligible under Criterion A, as research conducted indicates no association with any historic events or trends significant in the development of national, state, or local history. Historic research indicates that the property has no association with persons who have made specific contributions to history, and therefore, it does not meet Criterion B. It is not eligible under Criterion C, as its integrity is compromised by the modern changes to the structure. The property has been placed on a formed concrete block foundation, the fenestration pattern has been altered and the windows replaced, and the house has been covered with aluminum siding. The property has also been altered with several additions. The property no longer has integrity of materials, design, workmanship, and feeling due to the substantial physical changes to the building. Finally, the structure has no known potential to yield important information, and therefore, is not eligible under Criterion D.
