Description

The St. Mary's Church faces Piscataway Road and open fields to its east. It is a one-story, six- by-three bay brick structure with a three-bay gable end entrance facade marked by a projecting tower emerging from the central bay. Gothic in style, the church is rectangular, of American bond brick work with a low watertable. Entrance is through the east two-story tower, which has a plain frieze, a crown molded cornice and a pyramidal roof. The double, twelve-panel entrance door is surmounted by a pointed arch lintel, and flanked by buttresses at the tower corners. A foundation block reads "St. Mary's AD 1906". Above the entrance is a pointed arch stone plaque reading "Come to me all you that labour and are heavy laden and I will refresh you, 1838". At second-story level is a sealed window, having pointed-arch tracery. The tower is flanked by doors on the main block, each six panels with a pointed-arch head, surmounted by a lintel. Buttresses mark the corners of the building. There are overhanging eaves with projecting rafters on the north and south facades. Both facades are six bays, marked by pointed arch stained glass windows. Buttresses mark the intervals between the windows. The north side of the tower has a round rose window. The west (rear) facade is marked by two six-panel doors with pointed arch heads surmounted by pointed-arch brick lintels. A small stone placque centered in the gable reads "IHS". There are graves surrounding the church building and several large cedar trees cluster in the cemetery. Grave dates range from 1841 to 1982. A modern brick building, the St. Mary's Elementary School, is to the west.

Significance

St. Mary's Church in Piscataway is a handsome Gothic Revival building. Important details include its pointed arch brick lintels, white painted weathering on buttresses and pointed-arch and rose stained glass windows. Built in 1904, it is similar to the larger ca. 1899 St. Mary's Church in Upper Marlboro. St. Mary's, Piscataway is significant for its architectural style and for the history of its congregation. A Catholic congregation was meeting in Piscataway in 1778, served by Jesuit fathers from St. Ignatius at Chapel Point. St. Mary's was the second Catholic Church in the County when the original church was built in 1838. The early St. Mary's, on the present church site was smaller, also of brick with a tower. It was removed for construction of the new church, under the rectorship of Father Patrick G. Minnehan. The Rectory for St. Mary's was built in 1956, the convent and school in 1961. The church complex stands on 22 acres.

The St. Mary's Church is situated facing Piscataway Road and open fields to its east. Designed in the Gothic style, it is a one-story, six-by-three bay brick structure with a three-bay gable end entrance facade marked by a projecting tower emerging from the central bay.

The church is rectangular in plan, of American bond brick work with a low watertable. Entrance is through the east two-story tower, which has a plain frieze, a crown molded cornice and a pyramidal roof surmounted by a cross. The double, twelve-panel entrance door is surmounted by a high, pointed arch lintel, and flanked by buttresses at the tower corners. A foundation block on the northeast corner of the tower reads "St. Mary's AD 1906". Centered above the entrance is a pointed arch stone plaque reading "Come to me all you that labour and are heavy laden and I will refresh you, 1838". Above the plaque, at second-story level, is a sealed window, having tracery forming two Gothic arches. The window has a pointed arch lintel and a stone sill.

The tower is flanked by two doors on the main block, each six panels with a panelled, pointed arch head, surmounted by a pointed arch lintel. Brick buttresses mark the corners of the building. There are overhanging eaves with projecting rafters on the north and south facades. Both facades are six bays, marked by pointed arch stained glass double hung sash windows surmounted by pointed arch brick lintels. Buttresses mark the intervals between the windows. There is an interior corbelled brick chimney on the second bay. The north side of the entrance tower has a round rose window with a brick surround and wood tracery. All the arched windows have narrow molded wood surrounds and white painted wide wood sills.

The west (rear) facade is marked by two six-panel doors, one north and one south of the facade center. Each have panelled, pointed arch heads and are surmounted by pointed arch brick lintels. There is a pargeted exterior chimney on the southwest corner of the facade. Buttresses mark the corners of the building. A small stone placque centered in the gable reads "IHS".

A large locust and cedar tree flank the walkway to the church entrance. There are graves to the east, south and north of the church building and several large cedar trees cluster in the cemetery. Grave dates range from 1841 to 1982. A modern brick building housing the St. Mary's Elementary School is to the west. The whole of the church yard is surrounded by a low fence of brick piers joined by lengths of chain.

Prepare both a summary paragraph of significance and a general statement of history and support.

St. Mary's Church in Piscataway is a handsome example of Gothic Revival architecture. Important details include its pointed arch brick lintels above doors and windows, white painted weathering on wall buttresses and pointed-arch and rose stained glass windows. Built in 1904, it is similar in detail to the larger ca. 1899 St. Mary's Church in Upper Marlboro. It is possible that St. Mary's, Piscataway was built by the Wyvill Brothers, builders of St. Mary's, Upper Marlboro. St. Mary's, Piscataway is significant for its architectural style and for the history of its congregation.

Piscataway was an important link in the network of Catholicism in Prince George's County during the colonial period.<sup>1</sup> A Catholic congregation was meeting there in 1778, served by the Jesuit fathers from St. Ignatius at Chapel Point.<sup>2</sup> St. Mary's was the second Catholic Church in the County when the original church was built in 1838.<sup>3</sup> Piscataway was listed for the first time in the National Catholic Directory in 1839.<sup>4</sup> The early St. Mary's, on the site of the present church, was a smaller building, also of brick with a spire or tower. It was in bad repair when it was removed for construction of the new church, under the rectorship of Father Patrick G. Minnehan.<sup>5</sup> The Rectory for St. Mary's was built in 1956 in a contemporary style. The convent and school were built in 1961.<sup>6</sup> The present church complex stands on 22 acres.

St. Mary's is a rectangular gable-roofed brick church with a three story brick tower at its main entrance, Architecturally it is of victorian gothic style and has cornerstone date of 1902. However, the bricks used in the present structure appear to be handmade bricks and probably have been re-used from an earlier building, There has been a church on the same site since before the Civil War.
