c. 1938

Constructed in 1938 by Herbert B. and Arvilla C. Dunkle, the "Picture Box" is a one-story, frame, L-shaped plan commercial building on the northeast corner of Pope and Fenwick Streets in Leonardtown, St. Mary's County, Maryland. According to Edward Stokel, a local historian, the Dunkles opened and operated the store called the "Picture Box" to serve as a photography developing laboratory and portrait studio. Since this initial use, the store has also served as a florist as well as a shoe repair shop. In 1980 the store passed from the Dunkle family ownership to J. Harry Norris. In the 1980s Mr. Norris hired Aubrey Mattingly who successfully renovated the store. In 1997, the building housed Breton Veterinary Hospital and Norris Real Estate.

The "Picture Box" store is located on the northeast corner of Pope and Fenwick's Streets in Leonardtown, St. Mary's County, Maryland. The store building is situated on a flat 0.1 acre tract bounded on the south and west by roads and east and north by parking lots.

The "Picture Box" store, erected in the late ¹⁹³⁰1940s is a one-story frame building with an L-shaped plan. The store was erected on a brick pier foundation now obscured by a new brick facing. The walls are sheathed with aluminum siding and the roof, pierced by a corbelled brick flue is covered with a raised seam metal. The building is divided into two discrete sections. The east section features a four-bay gable front with a steeply pitched gable roof. The west section is setback from the east section and has a flatter pitched gable roof that runs perpendicular to the east section. It is not clear if this building was built during two periods. Historical photographs suggest that they were erected simultaneously.

The primary or south elevation is divided into two sections. The east, gable front section is pierced by two centrally located doorways sheltered by a gable roof door hood. Each of these doors is flanked by a plate glass picture window divided into twenty panes with fake muntins. At the peak of the gable roof is a louvered vent for the attic. The west section is fronted by a porch that is supported by four square columns interspersed by a railing and plain balustrade. The balustrade is interrupted near the center of the section to permit entry onto the porch and building itself. This section is pierced by a centrally located door flanked on either side by a plate glass picture windows divided into twenty panes with fake muntins.

The interior and other elevations were not investigated.

The house was competently renovated in the 1980s. Very few changes were made to the building's fenestration, building materials, and original form, however.
