DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

Crowe Point is located on the Choptank River a short distance south of Boston Cliff. The frame house is composed of an old vernacular early 19th century, one and one-half story section with 20th century wings on both sides and the back. The exterior of the old section has been remodeled and covered with yellow wood shingles. The central entrance has a Morgan architrave. The two dormers above have 6/6 sash. On both gables rise a brick chimney. A cupola is on the center of the roof.

Inside, the plan was the typical "hall and parlor" plan, but the original partition has been moved, creating a smaller "parlor". In the northeast corner of the 'hall' is an enclosed stair to the second story. It retains original batten doors hung on H-L hinges and board sheathing. Around the rooms are beaded baseboards and two piece chair rail. The 'hall' mantel has pilasters supporting the shelf whereas the 'parlor' mantel is plainer, but both appear original.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

Crowe Point is a fine small survival of the early 19th century, greatly enlarged in recent years. Its interior is largely intact. The cupola is out of character with the simplicity of the remainder of the house.
