DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The Royal Oak Church is located on the southeast corner of the intersection of Royal Oak Road and Bellevue Road in Royal Oak, Talbot County. Once a Methodist Church, the structure is now being used by a construction contractor.

The main facade of The Royal Oak Church is the north gable end which is three bays wide and has a central steeple tower. The tower has four major divisions: A double door entrance with a flat entablature and side lights and molded cornice; a mid-section with two rectangular windows of 1/1 sash and colored glass panes below a dentil cornice; a taller clapboard section with a circular window and triangular pediment on all four sides; and the bell tower and shingled spire. The other two bays on the north facade and the three bays on the east and west facades have pointed arch windows of colored glass on the clapboard wall. There are corner pilaster strips and a bracket cornice. The south facade has a one bay frame rectangular apse.

The interior is one large room with anteroom in the bell tower. The ceiling of the main room has a covering of elaborately patterned pressed tin. Wainscoting in the main room and the anteroom is also of pressed tin with a lancet arch motif. Both rooms were originally plastered, however, and the ceiling of the chapel was painted with an elaborate floral design. The windows are of subtly colored opalescent glass.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The Royal Oak Church is a nicely designed frame church of the mid to late nineteenth century. The steeple tower and wood ornamentation particularly enhance the character of the church.

Local tradition holds that this church was constructed to serve Methodists with southern sympathies after the Civil War.
