Number 506 Goldsborough is on the south side of the street near the railroad tracks. It is the only brick building in its neighborhood of predominantly small frame nineteenth century dwellings. The structure is three bays wide and two bays deep. It is covered by a ninety degree gable roof which is situated with the gable end to the street. The structure is two stories in height with an attic. To the rear is a one-and-a-half story ell covered with a ninety degree gable roof. The bright orange brick is laid in common bond; smooth surfaced brick is used on the facade with common brick at the sides.

Evenly spaced windows openings on the front facade have six over six sashes held by plain undecorated frames. There is a small double round-arch window in the attic. Window lintels and sills are flat and unmolded, of wood.

The main entrance is in the west bay. A transom light with five clear glass lights is used; sidelights have two panes with molded panels below. The door itself has four panels.

A one-story porch is found across the front and west facades; its hipped roof is covered with raised seam metal and supported by round columns resembling simplified Roman Doric columns.

The roof edging is flat, cut-out in a modified heart motif.
