St. Michaels Hardware

private

The St. Michaels Hardware Store consists of three principal buildings. The two front buildings face Talbot Street and have been joined together. The third stands behind the main building and faces Fremont Street (T-565). The main store building is an altered third quarter of the nineteenth century frame building that has been partially covered in stucco. In addition, the first floor storefront has been changed with the construction of a broad eave and large glass display windows. The adjacent store building, on the other hand, appears not to have been altered significantly and is one of the few commercial buildings in St. Michaels to retain a Victorian storefront.

This Talbot Street lot, known historically as "Canton Row," figures prominently in the commercial history of St. Michaels as the site of Samuel Harrison's "brick storehouse." On September 4, 1824, Samuel Harrison advertised in the Easton Gazette, "a brick storehouse, well fitted, good cellar and counting room, in St. Michaels, in a good stand where the subscriber formerly done business." This storehouse passed through a series of owner-renters until it burned in 1870. The current structures evidently date to a few years after the fire.

St. Michaels Hardware description

St. Michaels Hardware stands on the northwest corner of Talbot Street and Canton Alley in the central business district of St. Michaels, Talbot County, Maryland. The hardware store complex actually consists of three structures, two of which front Talbot Street and the third building is located on Fremont Street (T-565). The two store buildings that face Talbot Street are gable-front buildings oriented on an east/west axis.

The main hardware store building is located on the corner of the two streets and is a two-story, two-bay stuccoed frame structure that dates to the third quarter of the nineteenth century. The two-bay by two-bay main block is extended to the rear with three additional sections, a shorter two-story connecting structure which joins another two-story two-bay section of similar proportions to the main hardware building. Finally a single-story, two-bay addition is attached to the back of this third section. The side and rear walls of the composite structure are covered with a combination of stucco or horizontal weatherboards. The medium sloped asphalt shingle roofs are finished with flush gable ends and boxed cornices.

The west (main) elevation of the store has an altered first floor that consists of large display windows and a heavy overhanging eave that stretches across the entire front. The upper story is lighted by two evenly spaced six over six sash windows, and the uppermost gable is pierced by a single six over six sash window. North of the main block is a shed addition which has been incorporated into the main store. A false parapet disguises the shed roof.

The north side of the main store is fully covered by the shed roofed addition, but the south side has a pair of six over six sash windows on each floor.

The connecting section is a shorter two-story frame structure of narrower depth. Stucco covers the upper wall surface and the first floor has a shed roofed in-fill that has not been stuccoed. The third section has been only partially stuccoed. Turned on a perpendicular access to the other two sections, this portion is lighted by four over four sash windows. The final part is a single-story weatherboarded addition with two four over four sash on the south side and a shed addition to the west.

The first and second floor interiors of the main store building have been thoroughly reworked through the years with most of the period features either removed or covered up. The back rooms are simply finished with mid to late nineteenth-century woodwork.

Standing directly north of the hardware store is another mid to late nineteenth-century commercial building that has been joined to the main store. Although the two structures have been joined inside, the single-story gable-front frame structure retains an independent exterior appearance. The rectangular frame structure is supported by a minimal brick foundation, and it is sheathed with a combination of German siding and plain weatherboards. The medium pitched asphalt shingle roof has slightly extended eaves with short returns.

The west (main) elevation is distinguished by an intact Victorian front with large display windows to either side of a recessed double-door entrance. The knee wall below the plate glass windows is paneled, and the upper portion of the display window is divided into smaller panes. A multi-pane transom also tops the entrance. Stretching across the entire storefront is a mid-level bracketed cornice. Piercing the gable end is a single six over six sash window.

The south side of this rectangular structure is fully covered by the adjacent hardware store, and the north side has a single-story hip-roofed addition.

The St. Michaels Hardware Store consists of three principal buildings. The two described in this form front Talbot Street and have been joined together. The third building stands apart on Fremont Street (T-565). The main store building is an altered third quarter of the nineteenth-century frame building that has been partially covered with stucco. In addition the first floor storefront has been changed with the construction of a broad eave and large glass display windows. The adjacent store building, on the other hand, appears not to have been altered significantly and is one of the few commercial buildings in St. Michaels to survive with an intact Victorian storefront.

This Talbot Street lot, known historically as "Canton Row," figures prominently in the commercial history of St. Michaels as the site of Samuel Harrison's "brick storehouse." On September 4, 1824, Samuel Harrison advertised in the Easton Gazette, "a brick storehouse, well fitted, good cellar and counting room, in St. Michaels, in a good stand where the subscriber formerly done business." There is a structure located at this site on the 1877 St. Michaels map.

Notes: Samuel Harrison died 1838. He left Canton to his nephew Alexander B Harrison who died 1841 and passed Canton to his son Samuel A Harrison.(Wills, 9/79; 9/165; and 9/201). Samuel Harrison willed that his brick storehouse was to be sold by his executor, John Leeds Kerr. Alexander B Harrison purchased the storehouse from Kerr. Although he owned Canton Farm he apparently left it to his son Samuel A Harrison to begin the development of Canton Row.

(Wills, 9/79, 9/165 and 9/201).

Will 9/79 leaving Canton to Alex B specifically exempts the brick storehouse, the steam mill, and the brick dwelling house occupied by Walter Sparks. These were to be sold by John Leeds Kerr, executor. Probate date was 1837. Will 9/201, Alex B leaves his son Samuel A the brick store house purchased from John Leeds Kerr. Probate 1841.

ST. MICHAELS HARDWARE - HERRIDGE

The present lot occupied by the hardware store and its parking lot consists of four separate lots (and possibly a fifth, if Herridge bought the adjacent lot on Fremont Street which is now the small engine repair).

All of the lots are measured from a boundary stone of Canton Farm at the corner of Canton Lane and Talbot Street (in several deeds, said to be buried beneath the ground!). I looked around where it should be, but did not find it.

The first deed (to Daniel Weeden) begins 13' from the stone and runs 21' on Talbot Street. (13 + 21 = 34); In 1856, Sam Harrison sold a 12' lot to Charles Mansfield which began 30 feet from the stone; however, the next year, when Mansfield sold the lot to James LeCompte he started it at the correct 34' distance.

The title to each of the lots is covered separately after the second deed back. I hope this is not confusing.

An explanation of page eight:

The first three deeds refer to the 33' lot.

- (1) 1845, 58/501, Weeden's 21' lot on the corner. The first deed to this lot and the chain ends here.
- (2) 1857, 67/485. Sale of a 12' lot next to Weeden by Mansfield to LeCompte.
- (3) 1856, 67/382. Harrison to Mansfield. The first deed to this property. When the 12 feet of this lot is added to the 21 feet of Weeden's lot, it becomes the 33 foot parcel where the main store is located. BUT: it takes three deeds on page seven to arrive at the 33'!

The last two deeds on page eight refer to the 18' x 120' lot. They are listed separately because they are the only two deeds dealing exclusively with this property.

CANTON ROW - CANTON FIELDS

"Canton Row" - or "Fields" takes its name from Canton Farm, originally known as "Crooked Intention", the early home of the Harrison family. The derivation of "Canton" is not known, but the name was apparently substituted for "Crooked Intention" by Samuel Harrison in the first third of the 19th century.

The original tract, of which "Canton Row" is a part, was called "Stopper", patented by a Christopher Stauper (Stamper or Stauffer) in 1668 for 50 acres. The date the tract was acquired by the Harrisons is not certain but it was before 1778. It was probably bought or inherited by Joseph Harrison, for later deeds refer to "Joseph's Lot" formerly called "Stopper". The area of "Stopper" extended from the water of St Michaels Harbor adjoining Mill Point (825'x 2640') with its long axis roughly SE to "Crooked Intention". Eventually, all of the tracts west of the main road owned by the Harrisons ("Crooked Intention", "Stopper", "Chance", "Taylor & Jane's Discovery" and "Elliott's Lot" were brought together under "Canton Farm".

The development of "Canton Row" began after the death of Thomas Harrison in 1801 (see 1802, 29/354 attached) when the property was acquired by Samuel Harrison who died in 1837 and by Samuel A Harrison who subdivided the "Row" and commenced leasing lots in 1843.

Some time before 1824, Samuel Harrison built a "brick storehouse" on Talbot Street about 46 feet from the boundary stone of Canton Farm at the corner of "Canton Alley" and Talbot Street. An advertisement in the Easton Gazette, 4 Sept 1824, states that Samuel Harrison wishes to rent "a brick storehouse, well fitted, good cellar and counting room, in St Michaels, in a good stand where the subscriber formerly done business." This storehouse passed through a series of owner-renters until it burned in 1870.

In 1836, Samuel Harrison leased a 20 x 30 foot lot to Jeremiah Harrison "on the East corner of Samuel Harrison's Canton Farm" and beginning at a stone on the West side of the main road. From the description, this was probably at the corner of Canton Lane. There is no further mention of this lot in the land records.

Samuel A Harrison subdivided the "Canton Field" into nine numbered lots (there is no plat on record) which were sold between 1843 and 1845. Lot number one was adjacent to the "brick warehouse lot" while number nine came within 60 feet of the corner of the Church Neck Road (Railroad Avenue).

The warehouse lot and the lots south of it are defined with reference to the boundary stone of Canton Farm stated as being buried beneath the ground in "Canton Lane". The first lot, leased to Daniel Weeden in 1845, began 13' from the buried stone and was 21' on Talbot Street (for this and all other descriptions, see the attached deed summaries). The lot between Weeden and the warehouse was only 12' wide and was leased to Charles H Mansfield.

All of the original lots in the row were leased; however, in 1856, Samuel A Harrison began converting the leases to fee simple. Where the lot number is not given, the clue to the lot's location may be found in the adjacent owners as given in the descriptions.

The attached deed summaries are those of the original purchasers of the "Canton Row" lots, supplemented by such additional deeds as have been found to date and which mention the existence of structures on the lots. Except for the brick warehouse which has been destroyed, there does not appear to have been any other buildings on the property along the main road prior to its subdivision.

The following references are the deeds and leases to the thirteen lots of "Canton Fields" - "Canton Row" made by Samuel Harrison and his grandson Samuel A. Harrison between 1836 and 1857. A few additional deeds have been included where structures have been mentioned. The lots are arranged in order from Canton Lane to Church Neck Road (Railroad Avenue).

There are several discrepancies. The total length of the block from the stone to Church Neck road is 742.75'. When plotted (and checked) I had about 15' left over! It also does not come out even with the tax map - but the company says they are not very accurate. There is also an overlap of four feet in the early Weeden-Mansfield lots but they ignored it...and it straightened itself out!!!
