Charles Roberts House
Unionville
Private

c. 1900

The Charles Roberts house is an intact single-story two-room plan frame dwelling dating from the turn of the twentieth century. Charles Roberts, listed as "Col'd" in the county land records, purchased "part of Lombardy" from James and Lida Cowgill in April 1900. Due to the early twentieth century exterior details of the house, it is estimated Charles Roberts financed the construction of the dwelling shortly afterwards.

The property remained in Roberts family hands until 1929 when Stephen Boulden purchased the house and lot. In 1944 the house and lot were purchased by Richard and Marie Boulden.

Prepare both a summary paragraph and a general description of the resource and its various elements as it exists today.

The Charles Roberts house, also known as the Richard Boulden house, stands on the west side of the Unionville Road (MD 370) in the village of Unionville, Talbot County, Maryland. The single-story frame dwelling, standing abandoned, faces east with the gable roof oriented on a north/south axis.

Erected around 1900, this single-story frame dwelling is supported on masonry piers, and it is sheathed with plain weatherboard siding. The medium pitched gable roof is covered with asphalt shingles.

The east (main) facade is an asymmetrical elevation with a side entrance and an adjacent two-over-two sash window. The front door is partially glazed. Sheltering the front wall is a shed roofed, turned post porch highlighted with decorative corner brackets. A single-flue chimney stack rises through the center of the roof.

The gable ends are finished with two-over-two sash windows, and the eaves are slightly extended.

The interior was not seen.
