Description

This is a two story, two or three bay frame or log house with a gable roof covered with painted slate. It has a new addition attached to the front with a 1950s picture window. The second floor has two over two pane windows. The house has been covered with aluminum siding and insul brick siding. The house is sitting on a rubble stone foundation and there is one contemporary storage shed outbuilding. It is typical of modest frame residential construction from Hancock's early 20th century building boom.
