Description

This is a one-and-a-half story brick house with some late Queen Anne style influences. It has intersecting gables covered with asbestos roofing. It is a five bay structure with six over one window pane units with stone headers and sills. The house has a wrap-around front porch with original balustrade and columns. There is a detached garage on the property. The house represents Hancock's major growth and development period during the early 20th century.
