DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (If known) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This house is located at the junction of Beck Road and Beard's Church Road east of Smithsburg in Washington County, Maryland. It is situated on an area of level ground and faces south.

The structure is a two and a half story, five bay dwelling constructed of roughly coursed local stone. There is no decorative stonework associated with the exterior of the house. A large cross gable of stone construction is centered at the front of the house. A small frame lean to addition is attached to the rear of the house.

Windows are spaced evenly at all elevations. The openings are large in relation to the wall area, with six over six light double hung sashes held within narrow frames. An oval window with ray muntins flanked by rectangular sidelights are set in the face of the cross gable.

The main entrances are located on the second and fourth bays of the front elevation. Fanlights are present over the entrances. A very plain doorway is located in the north bay of the west gable end.

The roof is covered with sheet metal and extends beyond the end walls. Simple boxing finishes the eaves. Large brick chimneys are located inside each gable end.

A modern three bay, one story enclosed porch is centered at the front elevation.

Near the house are a barn and other buildings related to agricultural use. The house is in good condition and is located on a tract containing 164 acres.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The area of significance of this house is its architecture. Quite unusual in appearance for Washington County, the structure derives its major importance from its uncommon architectural features, including its cross gable with the oval window and flanking sidelights and its pair of entrances giving it a severely symmetrical appearance.

The windows are of unusually large proportions for Washington County's stone houses. The age of the house has not been determined, however, the owner has said that the structure is believed to date from the 1830's. A description of the house appearing in the June 18, 1928 issue of the Baltimore Sun reports that an 1812 date was found on a foundation stone. Extensive research and a thorough examination of the structure are necessary to substantiate either of these dates.

The property on which the house stands was for many years known as the "Beck Farm", having been purchased by Philip Beck in 1849. Philip Beck is said to have been among the founders of the nearby Beard's Church. The farm remained in the Beck family until 1893. Prior to Beck ownership, the property belonged to Francis Protzman who acquired it in three transactions in 1797 and 1803. The property includes parts of "Gleanings", "Bald Barrens", "The Forest", and "Webb's Discovery". Biographical sketches on the Protzman and Beck families are to be found in Thomas J. William's, History of Washington County.

The house is indeed worthy of further study.

Old Maryland House Well Built

WA-I-055

Hagerstown, June 17. (Special)—This stone house, erected 116 years ago, is one of the best-built homes in Washington county, the walls being more than two feet thick. Its age was unknown until several years ago when workmen repairing the building uncovered a stone in the foundation on which the date of erection was cut. The house, standing on the old Beck farm, in the Chewsville section, contains nine large rooms, five of these having fireplaces. The woodwork is exquisite and the oval window as seen in the photo indicates that only master workmen were employed in its construction.
