DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (if known) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE
This house is located at the north corner of the junction of Antietam Drive and Old Forge Road in the village of Fiddlersburg in Washington County, Maryland. It is situated on a slight rise of ground above Old Forge Road and faces south. The structure is a two-story log, stone and frame dwelling. The wooden sections of the house have been covered with shingle siding while the stone section has been coated with a thin layer of rough cast. The log section includes the western two bays of the house to which the stone structure appears to have been added. The frame addition extending to the south is relatively modern. Windows are placed at random in the walls. They contain two-over-two pane sashes or single-pane sashes all held within narrow frames. except for those in the stone section which display wide wooden lintels and sills. Openings in the log section are relatively small. Doors are plain in appearance and are without transoms. The roof is covered with corrugated sheet metal and extends beyond the end walls of the house. A one-story shed roofed porch is present at the north and south elevations of the log section and at the west elevation of the frame section. Modern block flues are located at the exterior of the north and west walls. The house is in good condit-on and stands on a lot 225' X 250'.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The area of significance of this house is its architecture. With sections constructed of log, stone and frame, it represents three periods of building as well as a variety of construction techniques.

The village of Fiddlersburg is said to have been named for a number of older men who lived in the village during the late 19th century and who played their fiddles on summer evenings. Several dated examples of Washington County's 18th century stone dwellings are located in the Fiddlersburg-Security community.
