Description:

This stuccoed frame bungalow is located on the northwest corner of Antietam and Maple Streets. It is typical of bungalows with one and a half stories, a deep front porch and dormer windows. This example has front and rear gabled dormers. Windows are doubled or tripled with upper sash with four vertical lights and lower sash with single panes. In the south gable wall is a square projecting bay. The dormers and gables are shingled while the main walls are stuccoed.

Much of the area south and north of Baltimore Street was developed in the 20th century as shown by this house.
