Description:

This two story, seven bay triplex probably dates from about 1910. It is covered with German siding. Some windows are doubled, some are single width. All have single pane sash. Main entrances are located in the second, fourth and sixth bays. A secondary entrance is located in the third bay from the east end. There is a hip roofed dormer with double windows.

This house is located about one block from the site of the Funkstown Manufacturing Company. The building may originally provided housing for mill employees.
