Approximate date C. 1830

Description:

Facing onto the National Pike is this two story, five bay brick house with a Flemish bond facade. It has two over two pane windows within narrow frames topped with jack arches. The front entrance is in the center bay.

Probably built about 1830, this house relates to one of the busiest eras of the National Pike's history.

According to the 1877 Atlas map for Funkstown, this place belonged to L. Gaunt.
