Description:

This two story, six bay two-part brick house has a Flemish bond facade. It was probably built about 1825 and renovated in the late Italianate period as indicated by the massive cornice with paired brackets, and the arched cornice over the main entrance. The house actually consists of two window-window-door units with entrances in the third and sixth bays. First story windows have been elongated and outfitted with two over two pane sash with arched upper panes. Upper story windows retain their original six over six pane sash. All have brick jack arches.

The Italianate renovation to the house probably occurred in the 1870s. In 1877 the owner was B. South.
