Description:

Probably dating from the 1920s or 1930s is this two story, six bay triplex. It is covered with asbestos shingle siding. Windows have single pane sash, and first story windows are arranged in pairs. Entrances are located in the first, fourth and fifth bays. The building is shed roofed with a short front slope forming an uneven gable.

This is an example of 20th century infill, just off the main street of Funkstown.
