Description:

This bungalow is a three bay wide stuccoed structure. It has the typical story and a half construction with a deep overhanging front porch and large dormer window. An unusual and character-defining aspect of this bungalow is the Colonial Revival detailing as seen in the pedimented above the dormer with an oval window and paired columns for the front porch. Windows have six over one light sash. Those in the dormer are triple hung diamond shaped windows are in the gables.

According to the 1877 Atlas map for Funkstown, there was a saw and grist mill on this site then.

This bungalow is significant for its unusual Colonial Revival detailing.
