Description:

This two story, three bay German sided frame house is located on the northeast corner of Poplar and High Streets. Its main character-defining feature is the central cross gable with decorative gingerbread trim. Windows have single pane sash within architraves with flat top pieces. The main entrance is located in the central bay. An across-the-front porch is supported by round columns and has a fancy cut work balustrade. The house probably dates from about 1900.
