Description of Property and Justification: (Please attach map and photo)

17706 Reiff Church Road does not appear eligible for listing in the NRHP under Criteria A, B, C or D. The resource does not appear significant for its method of construction or architecture. 17706 Reiff Church Road has been altered from its original appearance, compromising its architectural integrity. Alterations include the application of aluminum siding and alterations to the porch. As a result of these changes the property's integrity of design, materials, workmanship, and feeling has been compromised. Archival research conducted at local and county libraries and historical societies, and investigations of cultural resource studies at MHT have produced no information indicating the resource to be significant for its association with significant events or persons, or for its ability to yield information important in historic or prehistory.

Prepare both a one paragraph summary and a comprehensive description of the resource and its various elements as it exists today.

17706 Reiff Church Road is a two-and-one-half story, four-bay, two-pile, side-gabled dwelling. The dwelling faces south. A recessed double porch originally encompassed the two easternmost bays. Presently, the first story porch is enclosed, but the second story remains open. The side-gabled roof is covered with standing seam metal roofing and the exterior walls are sheathed with aluminum siding. A dentillated cornice is located on the front façade. An exterior concrete block flue is located on the east façade. Window openings are rectangular and contain one-over-one wood sash. The sole outbuilding on the property is a modern concrete block garage.

Evaluation for:

National Register Maryland Register not evaluated

Prepare a one-paragraph summary statement of significance addressing applicable criteria, followed by a narrative discussion of the history of the resource and its context. (For compliance projects, complete evaluation on a DOE Form – see manual.)

This dwelling is neither depicted on the 1859 Taggart map or the 1877 Lake, Griffing, & Stevenson atlas. According to the owner, the dwelling was once associated with the Cumberland Valley Railroad line that runs close by this property. The recessed double porch is a type found in the area, and dates from the middle and late nineteenth century.

17706 Reiff Church Road does not appear eligible for listing on the National Register of Historic Places under Criteria A, B, C, or D (as specified in 36 CFR 60.4). The resource does not appear significant for its method of construction or architecture (Criterion C). 17706 Reiff Church Road has been altered from its original appearance, compromising its architectural integrity. Alterations include the application of aluminum siding and alterations to the porch. As a result of these changes, the property's integrity of design, materials, and workmanship has been compromised. Archival research conducted at local and county libraries and historical societies, and investigations of cultural resource studies at MHT have produced no information indicating the resource to be significant for its associations with significant events or persons, or for its ability to yield information important in prehistory or history (Criteria A, B, and D).
