Approximate date Ca. 1890

Located on the west side of Maugansville Road and facing east, this house is a two story, four bay frame building covered with aluminum siding and other modern exterior applications. Some windows, apparently original ones have two over two pane sash, while others, including those at the first story front have newer single pane sash. A semi-hexagonal projecting bay at the first story level is located beneath the front porch. The main entrance is located in the central area of the front wall. A mid 20th century formstone retaining wall supports the cast metal porch columns of the porch which extends across the entire front. Original chimneys remain, consisting of corbeled brick flues inside each gable end. The roof is covered with standing seam sheet metal. A one story addition extends to the rear. A large modern concrete block shop is located behind the house. This house represents the late nineteenth growth and development of Maugansville. Its date attribution is based on overall form and configuration and details such as the two over two windows, chimneys and frame construction.
