Approximate date Ca. 1920

This American Foursquare style house is located on the east side of Maugansville Road and faces west. It is two bays wide with the typical foursquare configuration with square shape and a hipped roof. It is of brick construction in all stretcher bond. Windows have single pane sash with segmentally arched tops, possibly a carryover from an earlier (1890-1910) period. The first floor front window is doubled. The entrance consists of a door and a transom. A one story porch across the front is supported by square posts on brick piers. The house sits back from the road on a terraced rise. Behind the house is a frame gable roofed garage. This house is typical of Maugansville's main growth phase which occurred in the early 20th century.
