This L-shaped frame house is located on the west side of Village Mill Drive and faces east. It is a two story frame building with Queen Anne stylistic influence. The L is placed with a gabled projection to the front and the corner of the L on the south side. The building has been covered with vinyl siding, but most character defining trim features have been preserved. A gable topped two story projecting bay is attached to the rear south-facing L. It has a semi hexagonal shape at the first story and is square with decorative shingle trim at the second story. Another character defining feature is a wraparound porch with chamfered posts and decorative cut work brackets. A small pediment is present above the entrance area to the porch. Windows have single pane sash with architraves with molded flat tops. Those at the front elevation are doubled. A diamond shaped window, a typical early 1900s feature is located on the south wall near the corner of the L. A brick chimney with a corbeled top is extends from the interior of the building. Also distinctive is a stone retaining wall topped with upright pointed stones, a wall type associated with the early 20th century. This house is distinctive as one of the more architecturally elaborate in Maugansville. It reflects the village's main growth period in the early 20th century. A frame garage is located behind the house.
