Description of Property and Eligibility Determination: (Use continuation sheet if necessary and attach map and photo)

The Willow Brook Farm is located on the west side of MD 66 about three miles north of Boonsboro. A structure in this location appears on the 1877 Atlas of Washington County as the property of J. Bowman. The original house, however, is no longer extant and has been replaced with a 2-story brick house built in 1983 according to the tax records.

A stone end bank barn and springhouse are still located on the property. Even though the barn is a significant example of stone barn architecture, the new house has compromised the integrity of the property as a whole. The property is not known to be associated with events that have made a significant contribution to the broad patterns of local, state or national history (criteria A). The property is not known to be associated with the lives of persons significant in the local, state, or national past (criteria B). The property does not embody the distinctive characteristics of a type; period or method of construction represent the work of a master; or possess high artistic values (criteria C). Finally, the property is not likely to yield information important in local, state, or national prehistory or history (criteria D).

DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (if known) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

Willow Brook Farm is located along the west side of Maryland Route 66, about three miles north of Boonsboro in Washington County, Maryland. It is situated near a small stream, the Little Beaver Creek and faces east.

The building is a five-bay, two-story brick dwelling painted red with white trim. The walls are laid in common bond brick above low stone foundations. Flat brick arches are present over all windows.

The main entrance is located in the center bay of the facade on the east elevation of the house. The doorway is quite plain with a narrow four-light transom over the door. A similar type of door is located at the second bay from the west end of the house in its rear wall.

Windows contain six-over-six light sashes with their narrow framing trimmed with a bead. The windows are set on heavy sills. The side elevations of the house contain two windows at each level. Small four-light openings illuminate the attic.

A modern one-story entrance porch extends along the front elevation of the house. The roof line at the front of the house is interrupted by a Victorian period gothic style dormer, with much decorative carved woodwork. The roof line is topped with an ornamental board. Brick chimneys with corbeled caps protrude from inside each gable end of the house.

The Victorian period roof is sheet metal and extends for several inches beyond the end walls. The eaves boxing is finished with a band of molding.

The interior of the house was rebuilt recently after a fire. It is in good condition.

Near the house stands a large stone end bank barn with fine Victorian trim. Wooden siding on the barn is painted light green with white trim.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The area of significance of Willow Brook Farm is its architecture. The house is an example of a mid-19th century brick dwelling of the five-bay center door plan. The barn is worthy of note as representative of stone barn architecture characteristic of Western Maryland, the Cumberland Valley and Pennsylvania. The Victorian period trim on the barn is outstanding.
