ADDRESS: 104 North Mechanic Street, Sharpsburg, MD

OWNER/LOT NUMBER/ACCESS: Ralph L. Delauney, 511/579, private

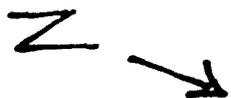

BUILDING DATE: late 19th century (?)

104 North Mechanic Street is an east-facing, horizontally massed, asymmetrical, one-and-a-half-story, freestanding, residential structure. Set directly at the public-right-of-way, the building has been remodeled extensively. This has included refacing the building with a variety of materials including brick and manufactured siding. Sections of the building have older weatherboarding and stucco surfaces; however, the structural material is not evident. The building has a side-gable roof covered with standing-seam metal. There is one interior, endwall brick chimney and an exterior cinderblock one. The roof has two front-facing gabled dormer windows. In addition to the new resurfacing of the building, the front facade has received a modern bow window and a shed-roof porch supported by modern iron railing. There are several outbuildings on the lot.

A building of the differing configuration is noted on the 1877 map of the town as being owned by Mrs. Miller. The 1922 Sanborn shows the extant building as 116 North Mechanic and indicates that there was only one outbuilding at the time--a shed along the alley.

The building is within the Western Maryland Geographic Organization, the possible Development Period of Industrial/Urban Dominance, and falls within the Historic Period Theme of Architecture, Landscape Architecture, and Community Planning.
