No. 119 S. Main Street is a two-story, two-bay-wide, side-gabled, detached, frame, single-family dwelling on a solid rubblestone foundation. The house has a two-story gable addition to the rear, and has been clad in vinyl siding. The one-story, hip-roofed porch wraps around southwest corner of house. The roof is asphalt-shingled. The windows appear to have been replaced; there are some 6/1 wood sashes, and 1/1 metal sashes. This late-nineteenth-century house has been modified, but retains enough of its original massing and scale to be considered as a contributing resource to the Town of Boonsboro Historic District.

BUILDING DATE: mid 19th century? pre-1877

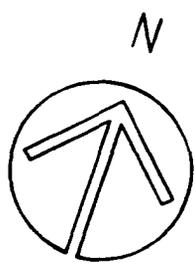

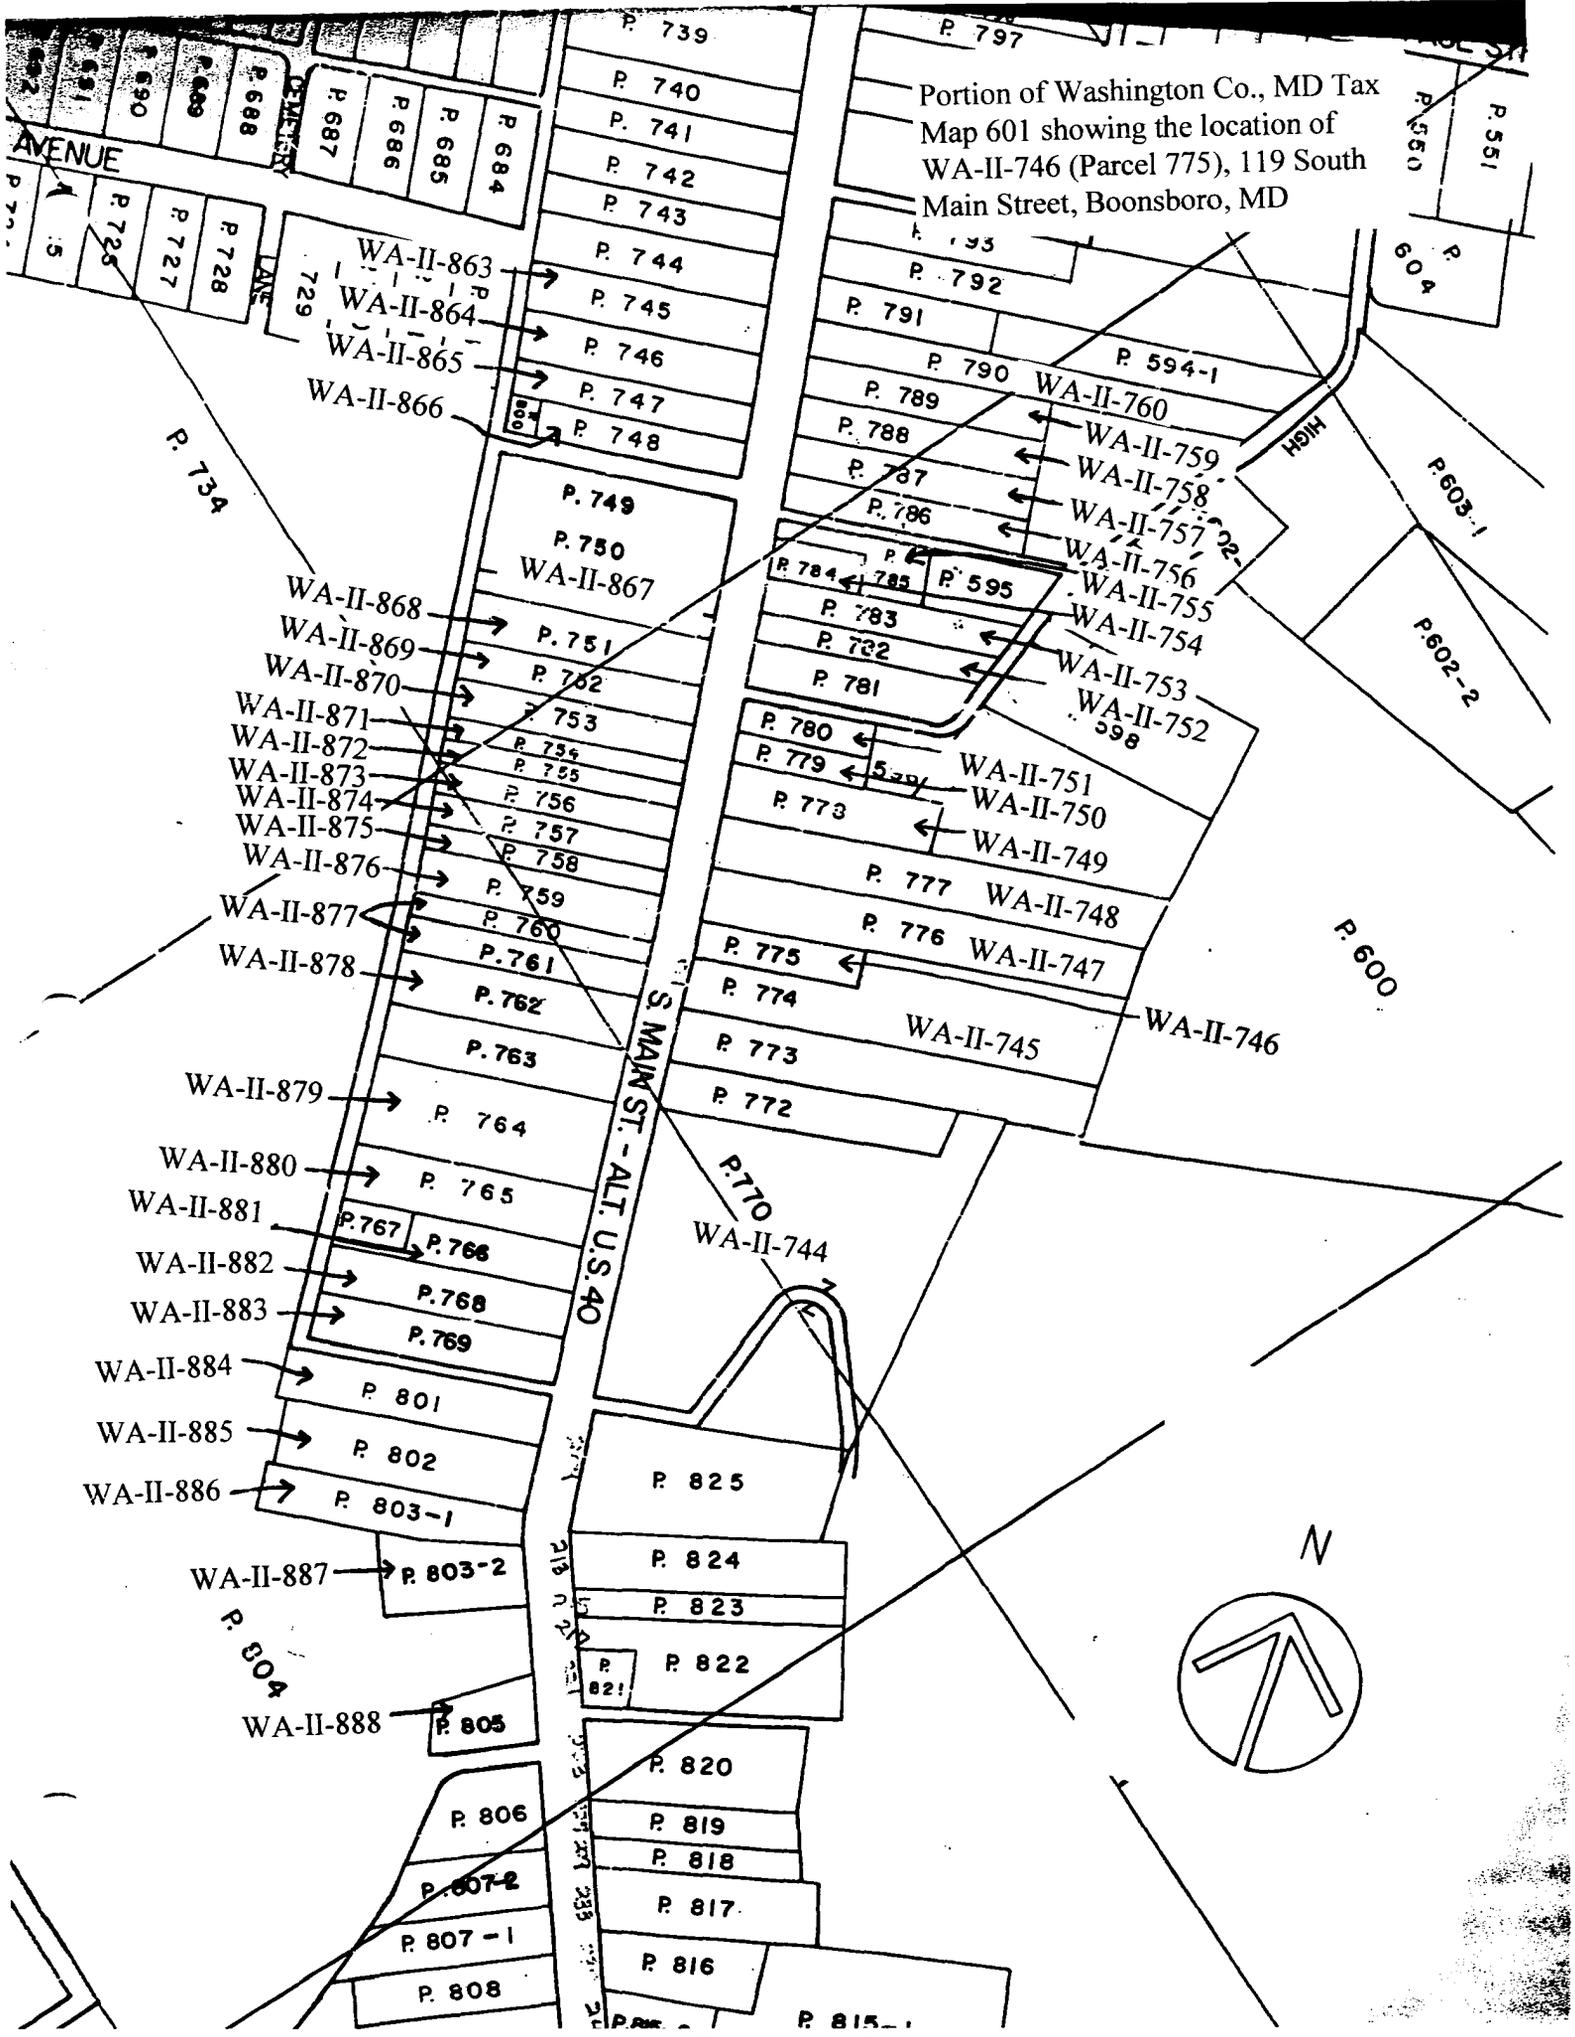

119 South Main Street is a west-facing, horizontally massed, two-and-a-half-story, two-bay, frame, freestanding, residential structure. The building, which is set directly at the public-right-of-way, is covered with manufactured siding. It has a side-gable, artificial shingle roof. The raised, hipped-roof, wrap-around porch retains some of its original dentilling in its cornice. The entrance door is obscured by a jalousied storm door. The fenestration is a variety of double-hung, six-over-one, three-over-one, and one-over-one sash. The building has a two-story rear ell and a new two-story side addition.

A building of similar configuration is indicated on the 1877 map of the town. The 1897-1940 Sanborn maps show the building as 241 Main Street and indicate that although the front of the building is frame, the back portion is brick.

The building is within the Western Maryland Geographic Organization, the probable Development Period of Agricultural-Industrial Transition, and falls within the Historic Period Theme of Architecture, Landscape Architecture, and Community Planning.
