BUILDING DATE: mid-19th century, pre-1877

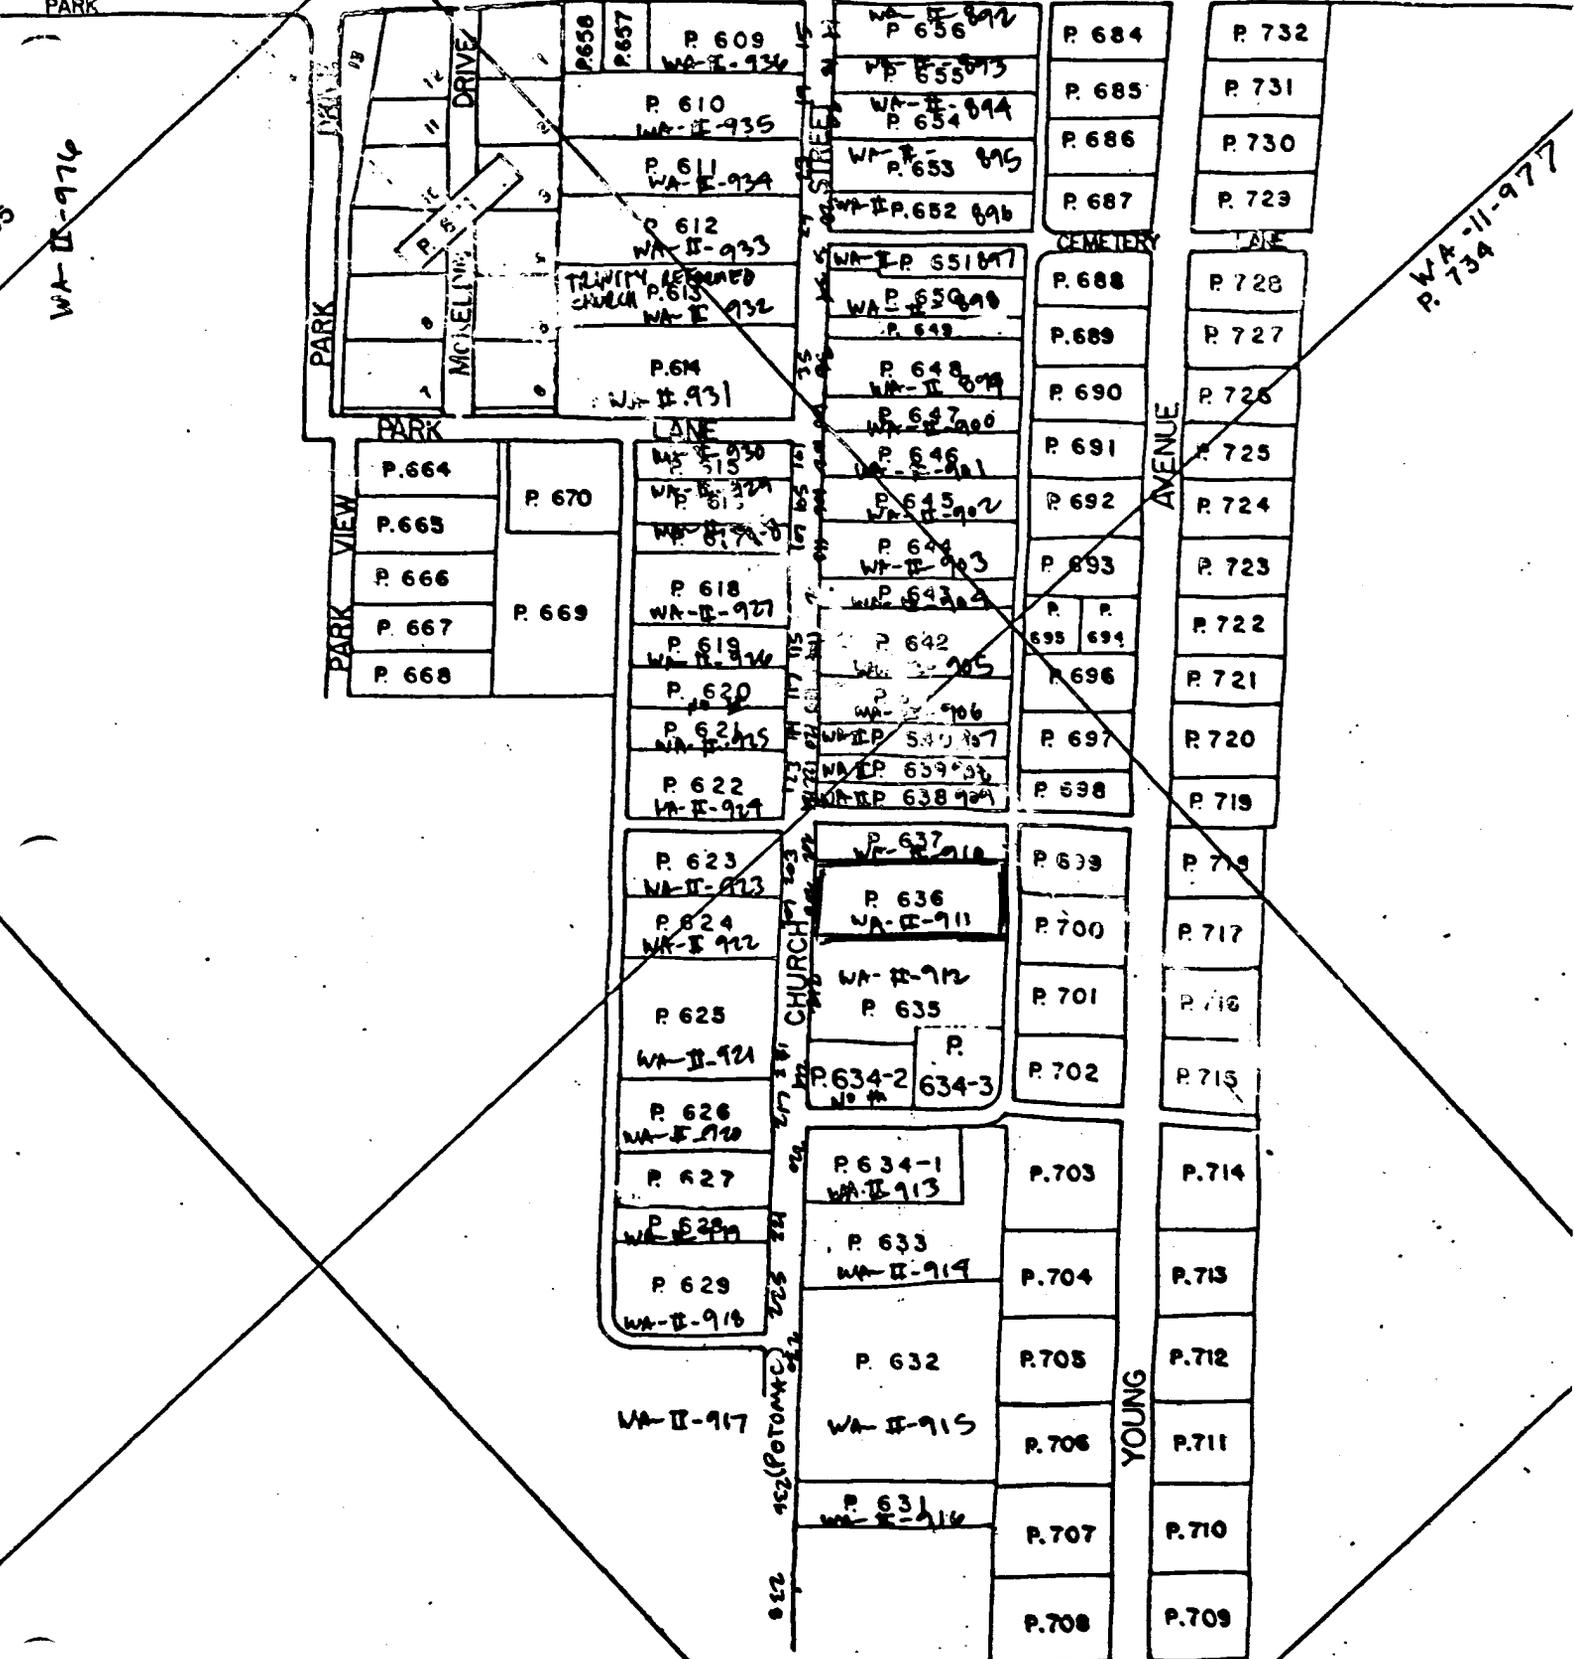

206 Potomac Street is a north-facing, horizontally massed, two-and-a-half-story, four-bay, brick, freestanding, residential structure. The building, which is set directly at the public-right-of-way, rests on a stone foundation and is set in a common bond that has been painted red. It has a side-gable, artificial roll roof with two endwall chimneys. A hipped-roof porch with a wooden railing extends across the facade of the house and protects the center-bay entrances. The doors consist of a glazed upper portion and a paneled lower portion. The fenestration is double-hung, two-over-two sash with flat wood sills and lintels. The upper panes are rounded to form a single arc. All windows have shutters. The structure has a two-story rear ell and a detached summer kitchen.

A building of similar configuration is indicated on the 1877 map of the town. The 1910-1940 Sanborn maps show the building as 66 Potomac Street and indicate the summer kitchen, along with a one-story frame outbuilding and a large carriage house at the back of the property.

The building is within the Western Maryland Geographic Organization, the probable Development Period of Agricultural-Industrial Transition, and falls within the Historic Period Theme of Architecture, Landscape Architecture, and Community Planning.
