

SITE NUMBER: WA-II-949
ADDRESS: 42 St. Paul Street, Boonsboro, MD
OWNER/LOT NUMBER/ACCESS: private
BUILDING DATE: mid 19th century? pre-1877

42 St. Paul Street is a northwest-facing, two-and-a-half-story, five-bay, frame, freestanding, residential structure. The building, which is set back from the public-right-of-way and rests on a stone and brick foundation, has been covered with manufactured siding. The structure has eastlake detailing. It has a side-gable, artificial shingle roof with a bracketed scrolled cornice, one chimney, and a gabled dormer facing the street. A small, deep, flat-roof porch extends across a portion of the front facade. The center-bay entrance is set deep into the wall with side panels. The door, which is partially obscured, has a glazed upper portion and is flanked by sidelight and topped by a two-light transom. Fenestration includes double-hung, six-over-six sash windows. The property has a detached garage.

A building of similar configuration is indicated on the 1877 map of the town. The 1910-1940 Sanborn maps show the structure as 166 St. Paul Street.

The building is within the Western Maryland Geographic Organization, the probable Development Period of Agricultural-Industrial Transition, and falls within the Historic Period Theme of Architecture, Landscape Architecture, and Community Planning.
