BUILDING DATE: 1910-1924

112 Lakin Street is a north-facing, two-and-a-half-story, three-bay, frame, freestanding, American Four-Square residential structure. The building, which is set on a lawn back from the public-right-of-way, rests on a stuccoed foundation and is covered with manufactured siding. It has a clipped hipped, artificial roll roof with one chimney at the center and a hipped-roof dormer facing the street. The slightly raised, hipped-roof porch supported by battered posts resting on brick piers with concrete caps, extends across the facade and protects a one-story bay window and the east-bay entrance. The door is obscured by a storm door. Fenestration includes rectangular, double-hung, one-over-one windows with shutters.

The earliest map to show this portion of Boonsboro is the 1924 Sanborn on which this building is noted as 118 Lakin Street. Based on the style of the structure, as well as the construction date of other identical buildings in the town, it was built sometime between 1910 and 1924.

The building is within the Western Maryland Geographic Organization, the Development Period of Industrial/Urban Dominance, and falls within the Historic Period Theme of Architecture, Landscape Architecture, and Community Planning.
