BUILDING DATE: mid-19th century

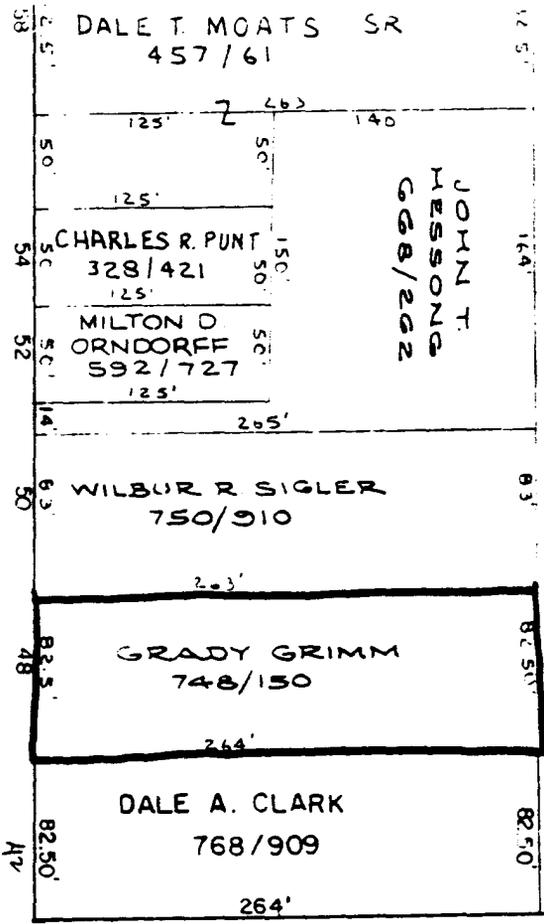

48 North Main Street is a west-facing, horizontally massed, symmetrical, one-and-a-half-story, three-bay, freestanding, log, residential structure resting on a stone foundation. The building, which is covered with manufactured siding, is sited directly at the public right-of-way. The side gable, standing seam metal roof has a massive endwall, stone and brick chimney on the north elevation of the house. The fenestration consists of single, rectangular, wooden sash, double-hung, replacement windows and storm windows. The north-bay entrance consists of an aluminum and glass storm door and a glazed and panelled interior door. The front door is glazed and panelled. There is a concrete block shed-roof addition on the rear of the building.

The building is set on original lot 59, a vacant lot that George Barth had recently sold to Dan Foutz, according to the 1814 plat of the town. A building appears on the 1875 map on the site which was then owned by J. Fogler. The building is also indicated on the 1916 and 1923 Sanborns as (possibly) 174 Main Street.

The building is within the Western Maryland Geographic Organization, the Development Period of Agricultural-Industrial Transition, and falls within the Historic Period Theme of Architecture, Landscape Architecture, and Community Planning.
