DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This brick school house is a two story three bay structure although changes to its windows suggest that it originally had one story like other schools in the area. Apparently the building was converted into a dwelling and in addition to the alteration of windows to allow for a second story, an enclosed porch was added across the front of the building as well as a chimney.

The surfaces of the brick walls are marked between bays and at the corners with vertical bands of projecting bricks resembling pilasters. Along the eaves crenelated corbeling produces a decorative affect.

The house is now vacant.
