DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This small townhouse, two bays wide and two stories plus a mansard in height forms the northernmost part of a brick residential row (WIL-148, 149, 150). Unlike its neighbors to the south, it does not have a Flemish bond facade. Windows have single pane double hung sashes beneath segmental arches of brick. One dormered gable is present in the mansard. Terminating the cornice at the north end of the building is a massive bracket. This section of the building would appear to date from the late 19th century, and perhaps was constructed when the major renovation of the rest of the row was undertaken.
