Nutter's District Election House
Fruitland
Private

1938

The Nutter's District Election house was moved to a site in Fruitland in an effort to preserve the last known single-room election house in Wicomico County. Built in 1938 to replace an older structure, the weatherboarded frame election house was relocated in 1976 by the Wicomico County Historical Society. The two-bay by two-bay, utilitarian frame structure was designed and built with a functional aesthetic and little in the way of architectural embellishment.

Prepare both a one paragraph summary and a comprehensive description of the resource and its various elements as it exists today.

The Nutter's District Election House stands on the east side of North Division Street behind the Public Works building in Fruitland, Wicomico County, Maryland. The election house faces west with the gable roof oriented on an east/west axis.

Built in 1938 and moved to this site in 1976, the single-story, one-room plan election house is supported on a concrete block foundation, and the exterior is sheathed with plain weatherboard siding. The medium pitched gable roof is covered with asphalt shingles.

The single-story, one-room plan frame structure has a two-bay front with a four-panel front door flanked by a boarded over window opening. The edge of the roof has a slightly extended eave.

The north and south sides of the election house are defined by two boarded over window openings, and the edge of the roof has extended eaves with exposed rafter ends. A single-flue brick stack pierces the south side of the election house.

The east (rear) elevation is a plain wall surface sheathed with plain weatherboards. There is a access door in the block foundation providing a crawl space under the structure.

The interior was not seen.
