Justification for decision: (Use continuation sheet if necessary and attach map)

The single-family dwelling at 6035 Hammond School Road outside of Salisbury in Wicomico County, MD is not located in a National Register Historic District, nor is it individually eligible for listing.

The two-story frame structure appears to have been constructed in the mid-19th century, based upon its overall form and roof pitch. However, the dwelling has been extensively altered by changes to the original fenestration pattern and size, by single-story shed-roof additions on the front and rear elevations, and by replacement materials. The building lacks the architectural integrity to qualify for individual listing on the National Register under Criterion C. The property is not known to have had any associations with persons or events significant to our past and is thus not eligible under Criteria A or B.

Documentation on the property/district is presented in: Project Review and Compliance Files
