RESOLUTION OF APPRECIATION FOR ROBERT M. VOGEL
Governor's Consulting Committee on the National Register

October 13, 2020

Whereas the National Historic Preservation Act of 1966 established the National Register of Historic Places, and called upon the States to appoint professionally-qualified State Review Boards to make recommendations regarding nominations of historic properties to said Register; and

Whereas the Governor's Consulting Committee on the National Register of Historic Places was duly constituted to serve as Maryland's State Review Board, and commenced operations in 1967; and

Whereas among the founding members of the Governor's Consulting Committee was Robert M. Vogel, then curator of the Division of Mechanical and Civil Engineering at the Smithsonian Museum of History and Technology, whose pioneering efforts were instrumental in establishing the field of Industrial Archeology in the United States; and

Whereas throughout his service on the Committee, his extensive scholarship and encyclopedic knowledge of the history of engineering and industry have contributed immeasurably to its deliberations; and

Whereas equally enlightening have been his contributions to our understanding of a broad range of topics relating to the history and architecture of Maryland, and particularly his hometown of Baltimore; and

Whereas in addition to impeccable erudition and authority, his participation has invariably been infused with an indefatigable curiosity, generosity of spirit, and a signature gentle wit;

Now, therefore, be it resolved that the Governor's Consulting Committee wishes to express its deep appreciation to Robert M. Vogel for his half-century of service and to wish him a healthy, happy and prosperous retirement and a rewarding next phase of life.

Approved and adopted this 13th day of October, 2020 by the Governor's Consulting Committee on the National Register of Historic Places

Richard Longstreth, Chairman
